My profile

About me

I am studying Marketing and Markets Research at the University of Seville. My main objective is to improve my skills and experience to have a great professional career after my degree and Master title. I am a very curious, restless and active person. I have worked as Economy Department's researcher of the University of Seville, I have gained many communication skills at tournaments of academic debates around Spain, I have managed teams at technology events, I have been personal manager of spanish public figures and I have participated in many business contests. I love Marketing (strategic business), technology (block chain) and politics.
